Healing through Reparation, Restoration & Regeneration

Ana Lucia Araujo is a historian and full professor in the Department of History at the historically black Howard University in Washington DC, United States. She specializes in the history and memory of enslavement and the Atlantic slave trade and her research interests include the visual and material culture of slavery. She is a member of the International Scientific Committee of the UNESCO Routes of Enslaved Peoples Project. Araujo has published a number of books on the history of the Atlantic slavery and reparations. Her most recent books include Slavery in the Age of Memory: Engaging the Past (2020), Museums and Atlantic Slavery (2021). Her books The Gift: How Objects of Prestige Shaped the Atlantic Slave Trade and Colonialism and Humans in Shackles: An Atlantic History of Slavery are forthcoming in 2024.

Lewis Cardinal is a communicator and educator; he has dedicated his life's work to creating and maintaining connections and relationships that cross-cultural divides. Lewis is Woodland Cree from the Sucker Creek Cree First Nation in Treaty No. 8 in northern Alberta, Canada. He specializes in Indigenous education, communications, and project development. Currently, Lewis is Project Manager for "kihcihkaw askiy-Sacred Land" in the City of Edmonton, the first designated urban Indigenous ceremony grounds in Canada. Lewis has received two medals from Queen Elizabeth II, the Diamond Jubilee Medal for Public Service and the Platinum Jubilee Medal for his contributions to the Province of Alberta.

Following their keynote presentations, Prof Araujo and Mr Cardinal will discuss the optimism and complexity brought forward by the most recent call for global reparation to address the legacies of historical mass atrocities inflicted upon peoples of African and Indigenous descent.
